EDITORIAL

The Faculty of Law, Political Science and Management is one of the four teaching and research structures of La Rochelle University. Structured in two departments, the Law and Political Science Department and the Management Department named IAE La Rochelle, it is rich with excellent at hand professors and administrative teams, as well as privileged professional partners.

You will find a range of renowned and innovating training courses, in terms of fundamental legal knowledge and a multidisciplinary approach.

The Faculty offers a large range of international access thanks to long-term international university partnerships.

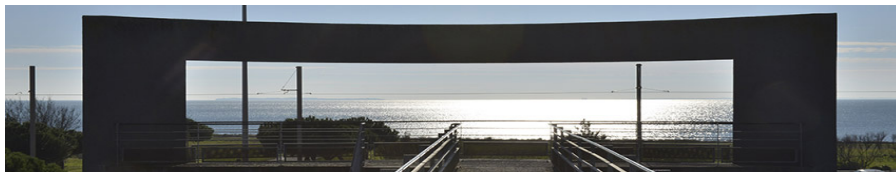

“ With a work environment of exceptional quality and accessible, high-level educational staff, the Faculty of Law, Political Science and Management of La Rochelle University provide an ideal setting to succeed in your graduate studies. To ensure the utmost success for our students, in particular by developing work-study programs, to strengthen partnerships between the Faculty and the legal professionals, in order to facilitate the search for internships and the professional integration of our graduates, to stimulate dynamic research, to promote international exchanges and increase the international expansion of our Faculty, these are some of the principles that found and guide our mission.

François Goliard
Dean of the Faculty

An Ocean view Faculty

Since the creation of La Rochelle University by decree No. 93-77 of January 20th 1993, the Faculty of Law has grown considerably, facing the sea and Fort Boyard on the grounds of Les Minimes. It now provides students with a complete course from bachelor's degree to PhD (LMD).

Diversified training courses

The courses provided by the Faculty of Law, Political Science and Management aim to teach students innovative and academic studies, directly in line with the current legal professions. The students thus progressively acquire the fundamental legal knowledge, while opening up international to other disciplines, an opening that is favourable to the development of their adaptability and reactivity, qualities required of all lawyers.

A Faculty in affiliation with the professional world

Dynamic partnerships with practitioners: about a hundred external speakers, specialists in their field, teaching within the Faculty; many professionals welcome and coach students for internships :

- A law degree, five master's degrees, and a doctorate
- Training courses oriented and organised towards a rapid professional integration vocational bachelor's degree
- Internships envisaged as of the 3rd year of the Bachelor's degree and extended in the Master's degree
- Two master's degrees, Insurance Law and Corporate Law, available as work-study programs
- An institute preparing for administrative entrance examinations and successful access to legal professions: the Institute of Legal and Administrative Trades (IMJA), grouping together the Institute of Legal Studies and the Center of Preparation for Administrative Competitions.

The Law Professions Forum

A high point in the Faculty life, the Law Professions Forum is organized every year by the Institute of Justice and Administration Trades (IMJA) and enables about twenty professionals to present their professions to students and to exchange with them. This forum highlights the variety of opportunities available in legal studies.

On the occasion of this Forum is organized the graduation ceremony of the laureates as well as that of awarding the prizes attributed to the best internship reports and theses by the Regional Chamber of Legal Officers (Prize «Jean Sevestre»), the Departmental Chamber of Notaries of Charente-Maritime (Prize «Charles Fournier») and the Bar of La Rochelle (Prize «Jean Beauchard»).

A specific and original offer of vocational courses

The Faculty of Law, Political Science and Management plays a major role in the development of lifelong education. The «Maison de la réussite et de l'insertion professionnelle» of La Rochelle University provides answers adapted to the needs of its public. The Faculty thus offers specific training courses, accredited by university diplomas such as the DU Mediation and Conflict Resolution, to professionals, company directors, employees and public agents. Occasional continuous training actions are also set up in various fields in order to meet the needs of professionals, particularly in terms of updating.

A dynamic and open research

Within the Faculty of Law and Political Science of La Rochelle, two teams lead a scientifically recognized research :

- The Center for Legal and Political Studies (CEJLR / EA 3170)
- The Center for International Roman Studies (CEIR / EA 4227)
- The Research Center in Management (CEREGE / EA 1722).

Research in the Faculty has three major characteristics :

- A disciplinary approach in public law, private law, history of law and political science, as well as a multidisciplinary approach in the work carried out with other scientific branches (computer science, earth sciences, history, geography, management...), centred on the major fields chosen by La Rochelle University : Littoral, Urban, sustainable and clever (LUDI).
- A broad association of professionals that puts research at the heart of the economic and social challenges of the contemporary world.
- A solid backing for the course offer.

A Faculty open to the world

The Faculty of Law, Political Science and Management of La Rochelle, an Atlantic faculty open to the world, is involved in close cooperation and partnerships with other universities both nationally and internationally.

Numerous opportunities for international exchanges for both teachers and students. The aim is to promote intellectual openness to foreign cultures and to improve language skills. In addition, the Faculty takes part in the «Summer School» organized by the University of Salzburg every summer with one teacher and two students. This programme is unique in that it provides an insight into the national legal systems of the 28 Member Countries of the European Union.

The student bodies

Students participate in the activities of the Faculty through the various projects developed by their association (BDE). The BDE gives rhythm to Faculty life, allowing students to develop in an extra-university dimension, reinforcing the feeling of belonging to the Faculty of Law, and more broadly make their time at La Rochelle University memorable.

TWO DEPARTMENTS

L'OUVERTURE INTERNATIONALE

The choice of international mobility :
an asset in your university course and for your future career.

Would you like to spend a year in Seville, Oslo or Montreal ?

The Faculty of Law offers the possibility of spending an entire year in abroad (in Europe or outside Europe). The internationalisation of training comes in different formats at La Rochelle Law School : exchange programmes or dual degree courses (discover more on our website).

In our partner university, it is possible to follow courses sometimes in the language of the host country (Spanish, Italian), sometimes in English depending on the country, and to validate your year via the ECTS credit system, as would have been the case at La Rochelle University.

You will discover systems of different legal customs, a different way of thinking about Law while improving your language skills.

Showing abroad travels is a major asset on your CV as it demonstrates your ability to adapt to various work environments and your open-mindedness to the world in addition to a better fluency in a foreign language.
